Five

great reasons why considering this service works for you and your family

Writing and reviewing your will

A professionally drafted, up-to-date will can protect your assets for those you care about. As part of the review, Co-op Legal Services will make sure your will provides for your loved ones in the way that you want, including appointing guardians for young children.

Arranging a lasting power of attorney (LPA)

If you ever become unable to make your own decisions in the future, no one can automatically step in and act for you. With an LPA, you can give someone you trust, the legal authority to manage your affairs for you, including your day-to-day finances, your investments and any business interests, as well as your health and care needs.

Protecting your property from fraud

If your property isn't registered with the Land Registry, Co-op Legal Services will explain the benefits of registration and how you can protect yourself against property fraud.

Reviewing your accounts, joint assets and digital assets

Co-op Legal Services will help you review how your accounts (bank, utilities), joint assets and digital assets (social media and online accounts) are set up and advise you on how to best mitigate any risks now or in the future.

Your funeral wishes and organ donation choices

Co-op Legal Services will make sure you are clear on your options when it comes to organ donation and we'll also discuss your funeral preferences with you and explain how best to express your wishes and preferences to your loved ones.
